We are excited to share that the new American Trauma Society website is officially live.

This update is part of our ongoing commitment to improving your member experience by creating a more streamlined, intuitive, and user friendly platform. The new website brings together membership, education, and resources in one centralized place.

Please sign in and explore the new system which will offer more value and resources for you and your team!

First things first: For security reasons you need to set up a new password to gain access to your account. To do this, follow the steps noted below.

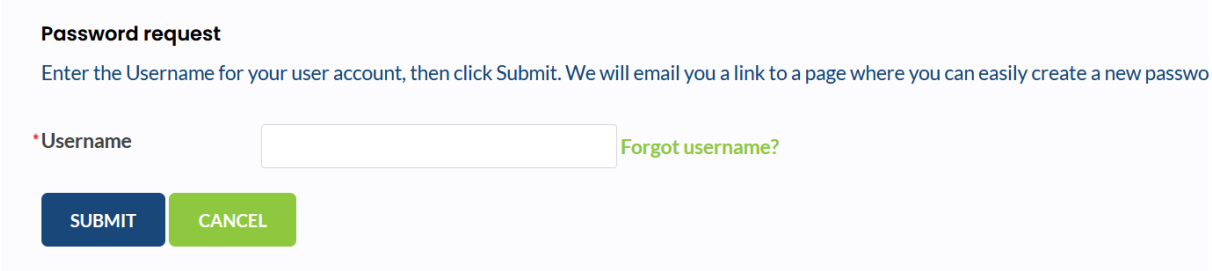

1. Click the button to open the new site.

Sign In to Amtrauma.org

2. Your user name: MRILEY@AMTRAUMA.ORG

3. Click Forgot password

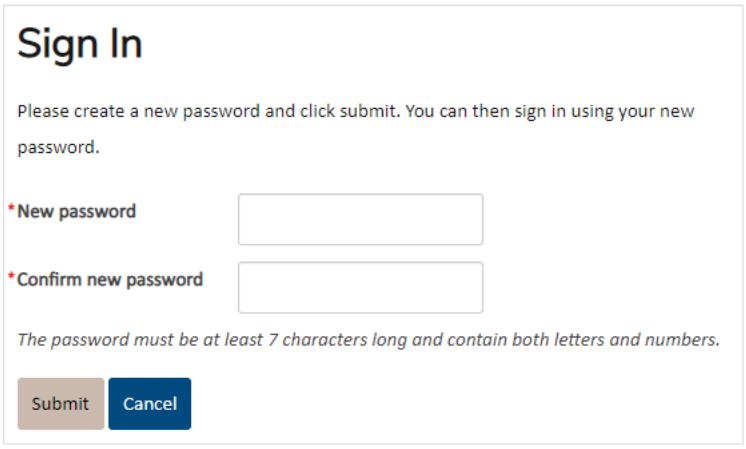

Enter your username and click submit.

You will receive an email from us that will contain a link to set your new password. Click this link and continue to step 4.

Remember to check your junk folder for the email. If you do not receive the email, please contact us.

4. Enter your new password, confirm, and click "Submit".

You will now be able to sign in using your email and new password. You will be taken to your personal landing page where you will find information specifically for you.

This is also a good time to renew your membership and review your profile to update your preferences and about me to ensure that we have the most up to date information for you. To do this, click on your name in the top right menu, select My Account, then select the pencil icon on each the about me and preferences tabs.

Need assistance? If you have questions or need support, our team is here to help.

- For membership or account related questions, please contact info@amtrauma.org
- For questions related to courses, webinars, or education programs, please contact education@amtrauma.org

As with any system transition, there may be a few adjustments along the way. We truly appreciate your patience and understanding as we continue to fine tune the experience and address any issues that arise. Thank you for being a valued member of the American Trauma Society and for your continued dedication to advancing trauma care and supporting survivors.

Kind regards,
ATS National Office
Email: info@amtrauma.org
Phone: 703.538.3544